Work began in January 2005 on phase one which is scheduled to be completed by 2012 to handle an initial capacity of 24 million passengers a year, more than doubling to around 50 million by the time the airport is fully operational beyond 2015.

Combining both architectural panache and technologically advanced systems, the 2,200-hectare airport site reclaimed half of its land from the Arabian Gulf. Forecasted for maximum development from 2015 onwards, the US$14.5 billion project will be implemented in phases.

The New Doha International Airport will incorporate a total of 80 contact gates, including 25,000 square metres devoted to retail space, comfortable lounges, and multi-story short-term and long-term parking facilities.
